American League Manager Admits Confidence, but Says He Isn't Chastity

GIANTS A GAME TEAM

New York, Oct. 5.—"I am confident, but not chastity," said Manager Miller Huggins, of the American League entrants in the clash for the world's title, this morning. "Confidence in a team like mine is justified, no matter what opposition it is to meet, but supreme assurance, the feeling that it is all over but the shouting, would be foolish with a club like the Giants looming up right ahead."

STUDENTS PAWN SUITS TO SEE FOOTBALL GAME

Indiana Undergraduates "Hock" Clothes to Reach Harvard Stadium. Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dress suits have become a thing on the market and second-hand automobiles are at a premium here—almost because the Indiana University football team plays Harvard at Cambridge, Mass., next Saturday.

A caravan of six cars, of various makes and sizes, carrying the students including the majority of those who had been successful in disposing of their "suits and shoes" and of obtaining an "instant" Harvard "Special" left Bloomington yesterday for the game. One of the automobiles was without a top, but the college boys did not appear daunted by the chilling breezes as they departed, singing "Indiana."

Since late last week students have been quietly dropping out of their classes at the university and disappearing on "blind baggage" or "hock" suits of castboard trains. One of the first to depart sent back word yesterday from Philadelphia to members of the eleven. "Come out, boys, I'll be there to greet you."

Frank H. Level, alumni secretary, who with a number of alumni accompanied the squad of twenty-five men when they left last night for the East, said he expected to round up the half hundred or more students who used the unconventional modes of travel in reaching Boston and had them attend the banquet of the Indiana alumni in Boston the night before the game.

Scraps About Scrapper

Billy Doyle's name has been added to the list of blossoming bantams in this city. The little fellow hails from South Philadelphia and shows answering the riddle of the game for the purpose of busting the other fellow on the nose. William has been learning his pugilistic art about the city and has been consistently. Doyle has a good deal of skill in his hands, has been showing up in his fights, and appears to be developing a punch about the size of a brick.

Another new candidate who has earned his spurs is Frank Junker, a tackle. Junker probably will start at that position and will have as his running mate Mervyn O'Neill.

Prep's Pert Patter

Johnny Witherspoon, one of West Philadelphia's best players, has been named as a member of the Philadelphia Prep team. Witherspoon is a tackle and has been showing up in his fights, and appears to be developing a punch about the size of a brick.

Haverford Has Good Material

Only Three Letter Men on Football Squad, but Candidates Are Promising

MORE THAN 60 ASPIRANTS

A great society of last year's lettermen, a great number of good substitutes from the past few campaigns, and a great quantity of apparently excellent but as yet untried candidates for the Haverford varsity are the conditions which Coach Bennett finds at the Main Line college.

Tat Brown, star fullback for the past two years; Captain Nate Sengler at quarterback, and Hilleman, a tackle, make up the three wearers of the varsity "H" available for this year's season. A back, broke a leg during the summer and will be lost to the team for the season.

Dr. Bennett has had the greatest squad out for football in the history of the college and more than sixty are among the candidates, more than a quarter of the total registration of the college. When one out of every four men in a college is out for the midweek sport there is some spirit back of it, and Haverford is brimming over with football enthusiasm.

Haverford's schedule started one week later than most of the Eastern colleges, but practice has been going on for the last two weeks, and the coaches have been working the men hard so they have been rounding into good shape.

Taste is a matter of tobacco quality

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.

"They Satisfy"

Dead or Live— which heels are yours?

RUBBER HEELS are as different in quality as automobile tires. Some are live and springy—others are lifeless and dead.

It takes skill and well chosen materials to make heels which will really protect you against the constant shocks that exhaust your nervous system.

Here's a simple way to test the quality of a rubber heel. With a sharp knife cut loose a narrow strip along the side of the heel, and pull.

Cheap mixtures of rubber will break in two almost at once. But an O'Sullivan's Heel stretches and springs back like an elastic band.

For almost a quarter century, O'Sullivan's have been the world's standard of rubber heel quality. They are protecting millions of Americans today—and keeping their spring till worn water-thin. Insist on having O'Sullivan's!
